Mahone's Victims.

It is to be hoped that the northern peo-ple will fearn after awhile that "Manoxe, Virginia," does not feel himself obliged to tell the "schole truth" at all times, though he may claim that what he does tell is the truth. The Philadelphia Press is one of MARONE'S victims, as the following comment upon a table prepared by Manonz

"It is impossible to ignore the fact, however, that under General Mahone's management the Republican vote in Virginia has shown a strong and steady advance. The following table of the poll for the past seven years will make this fact clear."

"This is certainly a creditable achieve-ment. In the four years from 1880 to 1884 the Republican vote increased 55,717, while the Democratic vote increased only 17,821. From 1884 to 1888 the Republican increase was 11,082 and the Democratic in-turned upon the debt question. Manone's sable followers were reenforced by a number of white voters. But in 1883 the Demo crafs announced their acquiescence in the RIDDLEBERGER bill, and thus took the debt meation out of Virginia politics so far as that action could do it. In that year the Democrats carried Virginia, and have car-ried it ever since. They carried it because the Mahoneites appeared in their true character as Republicans and not as Demorats dissatished with the McCulloca bill, They no longer hid behind the mountain of debt, but came out into the open field, ought as Republicans, and were beaten.

But that is not the whole story. In 1880 the State Constitution provided that noody should vote who had not paid a capitation tax. At the election in November, 1882, the voters ratified an amendment to the Constitution, which allowed all males ever twenty-one years old and not disqualified by crime to vote. This fact accounts for the increased Republican vote, because | boast. that increase was of course mostly due to the pegro's ability to vote without paying any tax. The whites generally (not all b any means) had paid the capitation tax and Necessarily and naturally, therefore, the Republicans and not the Democrats profited most by the increase in the which the Press regards as so "creditable" to Manone was the "achievement" of pro viding by our organic law that all the no ght vote (the Republican ticket) without paying even so much as a dollar towards the support of the State govern-

If in the light of these facts the Press will look at the increase in the Republican vote in Virginia between the years 1880 and 1888, it will see with a clearer vision. We think it may be said with entire truth that it was owing largely to Manone's course in antagonizing the negro Landston that the Democrats carried Virginia in 1888. All the any player or manager where to find the same we approve Manone's course in refusing to bow the knee to the negroes. He wouldn't vote in 1888 for a negro congressman from his district, and he told the groes in the conference of last week that they would do well to concern themselves dicted a poor lone woman for being a com-not about the offices, but about voting mon scold." And yet Colonel Shepard, of down the Democrats. The Nile Troubles-Again. The indications now are that the troubles on the Nile are likely to assume serious proportions if they do not compel the Engish and Egyptians to make another adattempt the long-deferred but inevitable provinces." Russia seems determined to reconquest of the Soudan. We said the other day the questions were what are the ramifications of the Dervish movement and what is behind it. To these questions there seems to be answer both in the information obtained from Dervish prisoners and deserters who have arrived at Associa, and in the preparations the British Government is making to reinforce Colonel Wodenouse. The Dervish bor beneficial and now eats well, sleeps prisoners and deserters state that the well, and manages to do a little connected Dervish force left Kordofan 8,000 strong and having with them six guns. This shows that the descent upon the Nile was not one of the periodical raids of the desert tribes, but was inspired in the heart of the tribes, but was inspired in the heart of the Soudan, and all things considered the logical deduction is that it is a part of the Senussi movement. Kordofan is one of the great gum-producing provinces of the Soudan, and it was there especially that the Mahdi prohibited the gathering of that product. When Sheik EL-Senussi pronounced against the pretensions of the Khalifa Arbultan, the Mahdi's successor, the people of Kordofan flocked to the Senussi standard, as did those of Darfour. The higher classes in the powerful province of Wadai were already Senussites to a man, and the province is one of the chief seats of Moslem fanaticism, a man, and the province is one of the chief scats of Moslem fanaticism, a fact that may have given rise to the use of the word "Dervishes" in speaking of the best covered to Colonel Workneys, when host opposed to Colonel Wodenouse, when it is probable that there are comparatively few Dervishes in it. The Senusses and the Coast tribes, as we have heretofore stated, are great traders, and the promise that the embargo on trade established by the Mahdi and attempted to be maintained by the Khalifa Appullan would be removed, was one of the secrets of the success of the Senussi movement. In 1879 the exports from Suskim alone of gum were over 200,000 Egyptian pounds, to say nothing of other products. Since then the exports have virtually dwindled down to nothing. It is easy, therefore, to understand the incentive the Dervishes have simply from a trade standpoint in endeavoring to possess the country to the very border of Egypt, if not further. It is also easy to understand that English apprehension of widespread trouble is well grounded and that English tromble is well grounded and that English preparation to meet it is based on wisdom, and probably advices from the Soudan that have not been made public. When we consider that the beadquarters of the Soutesi sect is at Tripoli and follow the movement from that point through the Boudan to Wady Halfa it does not appear probable that anything short of the most decisive measures on the part of the British and Egyptians could check it—indeed, it does not appear that anything short of gift of the present Administration.

It must be mortifying to Judge Waddington. It is be compelled to appoint negroes to offices which so many white men are anxious to obtain. The Alexandria Gazelle says:

"The Deuterats of Winehesster at the last municipal election in that town allowed the Republicans to elect a majority of the Town Council. That majority has just elected to the office of superintendent of streets and public buildings a negro, who by virtue of hisoffice is the 'boss' of every white laborer employed by the tewn. Republicans on or debt-paying, tariff nor free trade, nor anything else, should induce the white Democrats of Virginia to divide at the coming election, for should they do so what has just occurred in Winchester and that would be more than what many white people could be expected to bear."

A timely warning. It is deplorable that twenty-four years after the close of the war between the States the white Republicans of Virginis abould be carrying on a war against their white brethren.

In answer to a query put by us the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette tells us that for some time General Bearry has not supported a Republican candidate for Governor, and the Republicans don't care a cent whether he supports their candidate or not.

The same paper adds:

"As to the last remark of our worthy friend the Dispatch we will give it the straight information that Governor Foraker is a candidate for Governor of Ohio, and he is not a candidate for the United States senatorship because he does not want it. Is that plain enough for you?"

It is only because the negroes would vote indifferently for paying the whole debt or for repudiating all of it, that the Democrats have any reason to fear the reppening of the debt question. The Legislature and the Governor who are to be elected next fall will settle the debt. What can the Democrats do now? What would our Petersburg contempérary have them friend the Dispatch we will give it the straight information that Governor Forate is a candidate for Governor of Ohio, and he is not a candidate for the United States senatorship because he does not want it. Is that plain enough for you?"

By no means. It is an evasion of the question. You said that the Republicans of Ohio wers looking for larger game than Foranker when they looked out for their next United States senator. Do you really believe that Foranker does not want to be United States senator?—or that he will consider himself pledged not to accept the place if offered to him? Don't you still concede that he is a "small-potato" candidate for the Senate?

"THOM PSON'S BROMINE-ARSENIC SPRING WATER" came loto the market in the summer of 1887. In ninety days its wonderful medicinal virtue became so well known that the agents (FOR Miller & Co.) had to publish a circular asking the people not to buy it during the time in which their supply was limited, if they could possibly get along without it, but leave it for those upon whom disease had gotten a firm hold. This was a remarkable state of things, as it generally takes a great dean of pushing and newspaper "puting to make a new thing go. The news of the discovery of this water travelled "on the wings of the wind," and orders for over "two thousand" cases were booked for delivery when the weather permitted its transportation, its repuredion has apread to such an extent that over "two its the space of the discovery of this water booked for delivery when the weather permitted its transportation, the repuredion has apread to such an extent that over "two its the space of the mineral ores and noted for its fine carlie and beautiful swarery will have a wider reputation on account of this "colebrated water" than from any other cause. Its offects in curing "Dyspepsia, sick Headache, Eczema, Billiousness, Bisensee of the Miccous Membrano, and that most dreaded of all troubles, Insemnis and Tired Brain," are well known to many of the loading members of the medical fraternity, and every day comes the gratifying news of its great healing power. Letters come from the North, South, East, and West addressed to the company's agent, inquiring where it can be had in their sections. From "four cases" sold in the cay of kichmond in July, 1875, has a prang such a general demand that to-day it can be found in nearly all the States and Territories of the Union.
